HEADQUARTERS BULLETIN.

HEADQUARTERS GRAND ARRY OF THE REPUBLIC, Eansas City, Mo., Feb. 25, 1889.

General Orders No. 6. I. The Commander-in-Chief congratulates the comrades on the good work accomplished. The growth of the Grand Army of the Republic during the first quarter of his administration is fully equa-to his expectations. The increase in membership during the last three months of the year 1888 amounted to 11,238, being a gain 8,215 from new recruits and of 6,023 from restored members. It is a source of unqualified gratification that there is no dissension whatever in our ranks; the comrades everywhere are touching albows, and the bright fires of frateralty and charity are burning with a warmer glow than ever upon the alter of true comradeship. The retiring Post and Department officers have earned the phaudit "well done good and faithful servants." Much will be expected of the incoming officers; they must take up the work with a will; the interest must not flag. Comrades, we can if we will make this the red-letter year of our organization; you must do the work-the credit II. The following additional appointments on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief are hereby an-TO BE AIDS-DE-CAMP.

INDIANA .-L. C. Orrill, Commander, Post 85, Jeffersonville; I wish to warn all Posts against one James Brashier, as he calls himself, who is going through the country getting money from the Posts, with a promise that he will send it back to them as soon as he gets home. He claims to belong to a Post at Middictown, O., but on inquiry we find that no such man ever belonged at that place. He claims that he served in the 5th Ohio Cav. I denounce him as a swindler and a fraud, and would warn all G.A.R. comrades to look out for him.

In the absence of any Post Commander, the Senior or Junior Vice Commander may represent the Post, and in the absence of any representative his alternate shall be entitled to cast his vote in the Encampment. Department officers and members | R. Crosby, of the staff, whose duty it is to make reports to the | WEST VIRGINIA,-Encampment, are requested to file a copy of their reports with the Assistant Adjutant-General on or pefore April 1, 1889. It is important that the quarterly reports of each Post for the quarter ending March 31, 1889, should be transmitted promptly to the Assistant Adjutant-General, and to this end Post Commanders are directed to see that these reports are transmitted immediately after the last meeting of their respective Posts in March. A cordial invitation is extended to all comrades to be present at the Encampment.

NEBRASKA .-The annual Encampment of this Department was held at Kearney, Feb. 20 and 21. One of the pleasing incidents of the occasion was the presentation of a magnificent diamond-studded badge to retiring Commander Russell. In the evening a grand Campfire was held, which was largely attended. the election of officers resulted as follows: Dr. Davis, of Wayoo, Department Commander H. Morrison, of Nebraska City, Senior Vice, and E. Calkins, of Kearney, Junior Vice, Senator Manderson and Governor Thayer were present, and were enthusiastically received. Manderson was unanimously chosen Delegate-at-large to the Naional Encampment. The next Encampment will be held at Kearney

NEW HAMPSHIRE .-James F. Grimes, the newly-elected Commander of this Department, was born in Hillsboro, N. H., May 19, 1835, and passed his boyhood on the farm of his father. He commenced the study of law in pointed Captain in the 17th U. S. Int. Aug. 5, 1861, and participated in some of the hardestfought battles of the war. He was wounded at the battle of Spottsylvania and ordered back to Washington, but at his own request was al-lowed to rejoin his regiment. In 1866 his regiment was ordered to Texas, and after commanding several Posts in that State, he resigned in 1867 on account of ill-health. He was commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel by brevet for gallant and meritoriour services during the war. Col. Grimes was elected last year to the office of Junior Vice Department Commander, and has always been a zealous Grand Army worker. He has resided at Hillsboro since the war.

Milwaukee, Wis. WISCONSIN IN NATIONAL CONVENTION. Following are extracts from the report of Delegate-at-Large from Wisconsin to Sixth National Convention, read before Department Convention of Wisconsin. The "few things" mentioned and how to remedy them should be the serious consideration of every woman who expects to participate in future Conventions: "There are a few things in connection with that Convention indelibly stamped upon my mind, and one of these things was, 'How would that poor Recording Secretary ever be able to compile that chaos of nothings into a readable and intelligible report of the proceedings of that Convention. wish to explain that remark just a little by giving | Daniels. you a little insight into what was done. Our hor ored Department President (now National President) was chairman of a certain committee, and when that committee presented their report to the Convention she labored long and hard to have that Convention pass upon that report in a manner that would show that they understood not only the report but their own minds. Do not misunderstand me now. She did not try to have them adopt her report, but she tried to explain to them step by step what effect to vote yea or may on a resolution would have, and to explain to them how certain amendments would affect the report, and the reason why the committee had reported thus and so. But, ladies, it was of no use; they voted to adopt the report; they voted not to, and they voted to take the report up item by item and pass upon it, which last they did try to do, but in such an unparliamentary way that I must say I cannot see how that Secretary can be expected to furnish the proceedings credibly to the Convention and to her-self, * * * Later in the day a lady, cold, dignified, and with an air of 'Madame, I condescend, when she addressed you, came to me, when standing by or near the Wisconsin delegations' seats, and looking at me in the same manner that she would do at something that she might have taken out of her pocket or from her handbag, something that she owned, she says, "Wisconsin's delegation is solid for Mrs. - for - office, I suppose?" answer just as cool and just as positive "No, not that I know of." Imagine my surprise when she turned upon me and gave me a sharp and bitter ecture on honesty, and said that her delegation had given up their first choice in voting for another officer to please Wisconsin, and Wisconsin was pledged for them in the office she had named to me. * * * May the time come sometime in the near future when a society of loyal and charitable adies may meet and work for the best interests of all, and not feel called upon to organize themselves into a political convention or mob, every one pulling for the best position for herself and for her especial honor.

Besth and Past Department Commander J. P. S. Gobin. Annie Wittenmyer, of the National Council, W.R.C., made an admirable address. In the course of his remarks Gen. Beath said that the sphere of the Relief Corps is constantly extending. The number of veterans less able to take care of themselves is constantly increasing, and to the Relief Corps he commended them and their dear ones as the Grand Army year by year grew weaker, as it must do in the nature of things.

The roll-call of Convention showed a larger attendance than on any similar occasion in Penn-sylvania, and the reports were all of deep interest. At the Soldiers' Home Campfire, Mrs. Morrison was among the speakers. Helen Dunn, of Miles Grove, presented the Home with a picture of "Old Abe," the war cagle of the 8th Wis., and Corps 33, of Foxburg, presented a handsome arm-chair.

The most important work of Convention was to urmiture, etc., $2,505.49. The Chaplain of Wolcott set on foot a plan to establish a home for disabled widows, mothers and wives of soldiers, sailors and marines of Pennsylvania; also the orphan children of soldiers, for whom there is now no provision since the legislative enactment to close the schools of the State. Steps have been taken to incorporate the institution, also to secure from the Legislature an adequate appropriation to inaugurate the enterprise. Subscriptions will be solicited, and a mamnoth State Fair inaugurated to secure additional funds. The W.R.C. Committee is as follows: Annie Wittenmyer, Philadelphia; Jennie M. Reaviey, Erie; Abbie Lynch, Allegheny City; S. Maria Leonard, Wilkes-Barre; Maggie J. Sias, Pittsburg; Helen A. Morrison, Smethport.

Mary E. Warner, Corps Correspondent, reports that Wells Corps, Columbus, began the year 1888 with 150 members, and has now 220. At a joint installation of Wells Post and Corps the services were doubly impressive, Col. Carl N. Bancroft officiating for the former and Mary E. Bancroft, Department President, for the latter. Maggie Wein man, retiring Conductor, won fresh laurels. Offi cers 1889: President, Marion Slade; S. V.-P., Mary A. Wilson; J. A MEECHANTS' CARNIVAL

DEAR TRIBUNE: "Where shall we find something new for an entertainment?" is the cry of every Relief Corps. The elaborate fairs gotten up in large cities, which realize $1,000, are beyond the reach of Corps in smaller cities and towns, but where any stage entertainment can be given, a 'Merchants' Carnival" will be a success. This is really a drill by young ladies, the number deeided by the size of the stage and evolutions performed.

The leader appears first, keeping step with the music, and turns her back to the audience. At regular intervals the others appear and take places for first movement. The changes are signaled by the Conductor, who remains out of sight, by a bell or clap of the hands. The company marks time constantly, the feet not being still for an instant. Now as to dress. Each young lady represents some business, with a placard on her back, hanging from the neck, with the name of the merebant in type large enough to be seen across the hall. dillinery, dry goods, hardware, groceries, music, lrugs, jewelry-in fact, any business that one's ingenuity can devise a dress for-can be represented. The dresses must measure the same distance from the floor. By way of illustration, let me describe one worn to advertise a drughouse. The dress was of chamois skin, ornamented around the bottom with a fringe of small sponges, and at intervals, over skirt and waist, combs, crossed, and pocketbooks were suspended. The cap of chamois was decorated with a cluster of toothbrushes. The merchants are glad to loan these articles for the free advertising given. Be sure and have some new movement for an encore, for it is certain to come. Two weeks' drill should be sufficient, have known a successful representation from less If you can have a supper in connection, this drill with singing or recitations, will be enough for an evening's entertainment. The sale of articles dec orating the dresses would be a source of profit and amusement,-M. L. C. ALL ALONG THE LINE.
